

August 3, 2013 Updates

- Home Screen updated with new navigation links (What's New, View My Schedule)
- Website photos & news has been moved from the home page to the What's New link.
- Updates that were listed on the homepage are now under the help page.
- View my schedule was added for my clients so that they can figure out what day will fit into their schedule to take photos.
- The sitemap page is now up and the links are working.
- The keywords are now listed under help. New keywords are under What's New.
- The websites update page shows each update that occurred and when the next future update will happen.
- Pricings have been added to the website under help.
- The talking Sitepal has been removed from the website. May bring back later.
- Checked each page for consistency, broken links, slow pages, etc.
